POSITION DESCRIPTION AND RESPONSIBILITIES

ABOUT THIS ROLE

Title

Extension Agent.

Primary responsibility

Agriculture and Natural Resources programming.

Application deadline

Thursday, February 26, 2026.

Interviews will be held March 16, 2026.

Location

Offices in Belleville, Clay Center, Concordia, and Washington, KS; primary office in Clay Center or Washington, dependent upon availability.

The River Valley Extension District is comprised of Clay, Cloud, Republic, and Washington counties in north-central Kansas. It is a rural region with a combined population of approx. 27,000 residents across 32 communities.

The region has 1,066,693 acres in cropland with more than 101,943 acres being irrigated. Common crops include soybeans, corn, wheat and forage crops.

River Valley District employs eight other extension agents and eight support staff. This agent will collaborate with the district's livestock production and horticulture agents to provide dynamic, research-based agriculture programs.

Extension agents are professional educators, community connectors and innovators who serve as a link between Kansas State University and communities across Kansas. Agents are jointly responsible to the director of K-State Extension (represented by a designated administrator) and the local extension board.

- Collaboratively lead the development, implementation, and evaluation of research-based educational programming related to agriculture and natural resources. Programming may include but is not limited to: agronomy; agricultural economics, management, and public policy; and natural resources conservation and environmental stewardship.
- Share responsibility for 4-H youth development programming related to agriculture and natural resources.
- Participate in community vitality programming that helps our communities become better places to live, work, and play by strengthening social, civic, economic, and technological capacity through leadership development and civic engagement.
- Successful extension programs require agents to:
 - Identify local needs and emerging issues related to K-State Research and Extension's five critical issues (water and natural resources; community vitality; health; developing tomorrow's leaders; and global food systems) by engaging with program development committees and other community organizations and professionals.
 - Design appropriate educational strategies to respond to emerging needs and engage clientele by aligning with the imperatives of the K-State Next-Gen Strategic Plan. Strategies might include educational programming in a community-based setting; events and activities that provide experiential learning opportunities; use of innovative technologies; individual educational consultations; and group facilitation.
 - Collaborate with local partners to meet community and programmatic needs.
 - Recruit and manage volunteers to further the reach and impact of extension programming.
 - Develop and implement strategies to serve all community audiences.
 - Collect and communicate evidence of educational program impact.
 - Cultivate expertise in a subject matter competency area by engaging as a member of a Program Focus Team.
- Pursue internal and external funding to support educational programming.
- Serve as a member of the River Valley District team, cooperating in the planning and delivery of district-wide programming and related events.
